Synopsis

Suppose you're an attractive high-school girl in the 1920's and you're not only a member of a large and unique family but your father is, in fact, one of the greatest pioneers of industrial efficiency. Then suppose he decides to apply his unorthodox methods to you and to the rest of your big family. The results are terribly embarrassing, funny, and—it must be admitted—extremely effective! To Anne, however, the chief effect seems to be that of making them seem ridiculous to everyone else at school—especially to the boys! Dad pushes ahead with better organization for his large and delightful family, but the children don't understand them. In natural fashion, Anne the oldest, rebels. Both Dad and she are miserable at the lack of understanding between them. How do you rebuild your connection with your daughter with only so little time left? How does the entire family come to understand the most important thing: time is precious?

This Production

After 2 months of hard work and one week of pure chaos, the students you see listed on this program give you an amazing show about family. Through recasting, set, and costume mishaps, and lots of illness the process of this production has been a healthy combo of stress and fun to produce. The play was announced in January and the cast and crew have worked hard ever since! Theatre is such an amazing thing! We'd like to let you into our wonderful world of drama for just a few hours. Sit back, enjoy, and hopefully, learn the lesson we have learned that time is precious, and time with family even moreso.

Director's Note

The theme of this play is that time is precious. As a mother and a teacher, I know very well how quickly the years fly by. One minute they are babies in your arms and the next they are graduating. All of us know what it feels like to say goodbye; whether it is because of natural transitions in life or until the Lord comes again. Time is the one thing we can never replace nor should we take advantage of it. Although there are days, meetings, events, classes, etc. when time crawls by, we look back and always say where did it go? This play is dedicated to my amazing seniors who are leaving, to my beautiful children and family who I want to always spend more time with, and for all of us, those who we've lost and wish we had more time. Hold your babies close, love your family better, and spend time with Jesus so we can all spend eternity together.

Fun Facts

- The story you're about to watch is based on a real family, Frank Jr. and Ernestine Gilbreth were co-authors of the original book
- This is the first AAA performance in a while to have two full showings!
- For the first time ever no one in the cast said the name of The Scottish Play! Outside of the cast though...
- Last year a spotlight blew up!.. not very fun just interesting I guess

Understudying: Anne, Mother, Ernestine, and Martha respectively*

"I think that this play is really special because it highlights the importance of family and making every moment count"

~Natalia Pons

"Being a part of this production meant coming right after school and staying for a long time, rehearsing lines, and getting tech things done really fast. But we all did it together, and all the mistakes make it more memorable"

~Katherine Amado

"We get so caught up with stress and all the hard things in life, theatre gives us the opportunity to submerge into a whole new world, even if it's for only a couple hours"

~Kelsy Zacarias

Things Heard During Rehearsal

"Just waiting for my Motorcycle Mac to come by" ~Chantreese Davis

"I am not photoshopping you guys into crabs!" ~Kasi Kalebu
